

Diploma of Project Management is a bridge from school to life.

Management Frontline has been delivering the Diploma of Project Management to senior secondary school students and adult students for 14 years, with a reputation for delivering excellence and results.

Offering our students practical methodology to implement during their education and professional careers, our Diploma of Project Management also offers as a safety net, aiding University entrance with an ATAR with an equivalence of 87 currently or higher.

With an Olympic Games on the horizon, and the construction project boom that is bringing along with all the systems development and supporting activities, the Diploma of Project Management Graduates have a rosy employment future for at least a decade.

The Diploma of Project Management sets sound habits for the independent world of university study requirements or work places. The Diploma of Project Management not only supports your academic goals, but is a widely respected discipline across many respected fields, including;

Law	Events Management	Film and Television
Information Technology	Health	Architecture
Engineering	Government	Business
Construction	Administration	Marketing
Real Estate	Education	Sports Management
Property Development	Criminology	Education

Commitment

Students are expected to attend 20 hours of face to face learning each term for three terms, with a possible Saturday or Sunday for special sessions.

Students can expect to spend a similar amount of time doing assignment work or study.

To ensure individual attention and success, we teach small classes and add an additional teacher for classes over six students. We provide an independent Professional Psychological Personal profile of work preferences for each student. This helps the students to appreciate their own worth and the worth of others.

Diploma of Project Management and the Portfolio

The Diploma of Project Management BSB50820 is a vital component of a Student Portfolio. It is a unique component as it can assist in improving grades in school subjects, both academic and non-academic. It also enables the mastery of many life skills.

University Entry

The Diploma of Project Management can give a student University entry at the equivalent of ATAR 87 currently or higher on leaving school at most Universities and attracts 8 QCE Points. At age 18 or after one year away from school students can use the Diploma to gain entry to all Universities that use that level of admission. The results of the latest research into the Leveraging Learning Program completed recently have shown the value themes emerging including organisation, time management, risk awareness, personal confidence and reliable results. This included graduating students as well as beginning students.
